

Happy IBCLC Day!

All the nurses at UCSF's birth center have trained in lactation to help our families reach their feeding goals for their babies. Breast/chestfeeding infants is an intimate caregiving venture that involves the whole family, and deserves support from the rest of society.

Today, we honor the profession of the International Board Certified Lactation Consultant (IBCLC).

IBCLCs are clinical specialists who focus on the needs and concerns of the breast/chestfeeding family. Their role includes preventing, recognizing, and solving breast/chestfeeding difficulties and they pass a rigorous international examination to attain this title.

Congratulations to all our IBCLCs, today, and thank you for the service you provide.

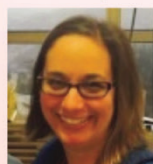

We celebrate that there are SO MANY IBCLC's at UCSF Mission Bay, both in the in-patient, and out-patient settings!

Thank you!
